A photograph of two construction workers in a workshop. The worker in the foreground is wearing a yellow high-visibility vest over a purple t-shirt and safety glasses. He is leaning over a workbench, using a pencil and a measuring tape. The workbench is cluttered with various tools, including a red utility knife, a hammer, a saw, and a container of screws. The worker in the background is wearing a blue high-visibility vest over a black long-sleeved shirt and is carrying a black tool bag. The workshop has stone walls and large windows. A green exit sign is visible on the wall in the background.
